

CARIBBEAN WINTERSCHOOL

ONLINE

Workshop

The Caribbean WinterSchool is an international annual workshop founded in 2010 by Muenster University of Applied Sciences, Polytechnic University of Catalonia and Technological University of Habana José Antonio Echeverría in Havana, Cuba.

The design workshop is focused on development of innovative concepts for urban design strategies for Havana in the context of future changes. The workshop is open for students graduated with bachelor degree from a school of architecture.

The 3-week workshop combined with a scientific preparation phase will be rewarded with an international certificate upon completion of the program. The course is allocated with 12 Credits in accordance with the European Credit Transfer System ECTS.

The Caribbean Winterschool 2021 will be taught online. Students will work in combined teams from participating universities in an intensive 3 weeks design workshop. Supported by a group of up to 10 Professors and Tutors students will be able to explore and develop ideas for one of the most special urban areas in the city of Havana.

Teaching will take place via videoconferencing and ideas can be shared via online whiteboards. A typical day will start with a joint session at 9:00am CET, followed by group tutorials and individual group work. A minimum of 8 hours daily team work is expected.
